About Me:

I am a self-driven front-end developer and have been in the process of learning, on how to make UI's more user friendly, attractive and efficient for dynamic environments. I have concentrated on learning java script more deeply so as to make best use of libraries or frameworks like React js, React Native and Vue js. The learning was more inclined towards understanding the core concepts and how things worked under the hood. Understanding the beauty in creating new things and the thrill of debugging made me inclined towards this industry where learning is never-ending.
